LEADERSHIP MANUAL 2013-2014

DISCOVER YOUR VOICE

Hello Georgia FCCLA, on behalf of the State Executive Council and State Staff it is my pleasure to welcome you to another great year of leadership. As one of pop culture's most influential females, Demi Lovato states "If I'm able to use my voice to do good in the world, then I definitely want to do that." After struggling with body image issues for years, Demi Lovato overcame societal pressure and used her voice to positively support organizations that prevent teen bullying and eating disorders among teens. Lovato was able to discover her voice through the help of her family, peers, and fans. As individuals with distinctive and original voices, we have the power to use our voices to shape the future. When you find your voice, your story will be told. You will be heard. Whether you are attending a conference, participating in STAR Events, or networking with members; FCCLA provides a variety of opportunities to discover your voice. As leaders we will move through the next year together and I would like to encourage you all to use the many tools FCCLA provides to discover your voice, raise your voice, and use your voice to leave a legacy. As we begin our journey I encourage you all to write your own songs and carry your own tunes.

Singing to the beat of a different drum,

Shivani Dhir

FCCLA Facts

Membership

FCCLA has a national membership of over 200,000 young men and women in nearly 7,000 local chapters. There are 53 state associations including the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Since its founding in 1945, FCCLA has involved more than ten million youth. Former members are eligible to become members of Alumni & Associates.

Governance

Ten national officers (students) are elected by the voting delegates at the Annual National Leadership Meeting and together make up the National Executive Council. The National Board of Directors is composed of adult representatives from education and business and four youth representatives. State Associations and local chapters elect their own youth officers. State programs come under the direction of Family & Consumer Sciences Education Staff. Chapter advisers are Family & Consumer Sciences teachers.

Financial And Cooperative Support

FCCLA is supported primarily by student membership dues. Additional funds are raised from individuals, corporations and foundations. FCCLA is endorsed by the U.S. Department of Education and the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences (AAFCS).

National Staff

An Executive Director leads the organization and heads a national staff that gives direction to and carries out programs, communications, membership services and financial management.

National Publications

Teen Times, the official magazine of FCCLA, is published quarterly during the school year and distributed to affiliated members. The national staff also publishes a variety of other resources material for members and adult leaders. A free publication catalog is available upon request.

Motto

“Towards New Horizons” This motto is a challenge. It reminds members that their contribution to home life today will influence the kinds of homes they have tomorrow; that the family life of members will influence the community and the world.

Flower

The Red Rose. The rose, due to its beauty, has always been a favorite flower. It is found in almost every country of the northern hemisphere. It represents the search of Family, Career and Community Leaders of America for beauty in everyday living.
